Japanese Suffer Heavy Losses; May Abandon Of Hangchow

Hankow, Jan. 25.

Chinese reports state that, striking before the arrival. of the newly-despatched Japanese reinforcements, troops formerly under Han Fu-chu, now commanded by General Liu Yoa-ting, yesterday abandoned defensive warfare tactics, and swung into operation in a general southern Shantung counter-offensive.

The Chinese thrust between Yenchow, occupied by the Japanese, and Tsining, retaking Sunchihtien in the course of the operations, while contingents spread fanwise from the south-west, surrounding Tsining. Vanguards pushed on to within 16 miles of Tsining.

Meanwhile on the southern section of the Tientsin-Pukow railway zone, things remained quiet, with the Japanese awaiting their 30,000 reinforcements from Nanking. After their arrival a big "push" is expected to

According to further Chinese reports, Japanese troops in Hangehow are preparing for street fighting by creeting sandbags and machine-gun emplacements. However, the Japanese are also mining the bridges on the Hangehow-Nanking highway, which indicates that the Japanese perhaps will evacuate Hangchow.

Seven Nations Compete For Margin of Security While Costs Mount Enormously

London, Jan. 24.

In a headlong and unprecedented naval race, seven Powers are prepared to lay at least 1,500,000 tons of fighting ships during 1938. Already Britain, the United States and Russia are exceeding the 35,000 tons limits, while the experts are certain that eventually the scramble to construct 43,000 tons vessels will mark the beginning of a race for increasingly gigantic ships, possibly reaching 60,000, and costing £25,000,000, within five years, unless a halt is called.

France and Italy are indulging in an oblique race, due to the fact that France has seven battleships, mostly of an ancient type, which must protect the Atlantic and Mediterranean coasts, while Mussolini is already building two that no decisions will be made regarding capital ships pending inquiries whether Tokyo is actually exceeding the limit. Russia has announced her intention of entering the race, and most observers believe she will include 43,000-ton battleships in her programme, which would result in Italy and Germany doing likewise.

BRITAIN'S PRESENT STRENGTH

Britain at the present has five ships of King George V class underway, and is likely to have five additional capital ships during 1938-39. This programme would bring her naval strength above 2,000,000 tons, including 17 battleships already built, five underway, ten bireraft carriers, 80 cruisers, 200 destroyers and more than 60 submarines. The New Guinea Administration. acting on the advice of an expert on volcanoes, has evolved plans for rapid evacuation of the population of Rabaul, the present capital, in the event of another eruption. Great damage was done by the last eruption in May.

Continuous watch is being kept, and factories will sound their hooters if there are any untoward signs. The white inhabitants, especially motorists, are allotted tasks in organised evacuation.

A committee will shortly tour the whole mandated territory to choose a site for the new capital. The change will, it is estimated, cost the Federal Government at least £250,-

HERE IS THE MURDER house in Celle-Saint-Cloud, France, where German-born Eugene Weidmann confessed to Paris police he had slain some of the five victims he killed for their money. ## DEMANDED HER "ADMIRATION"

A N Army officer husband who was stated to have twisted his wife's arm, put her over his knee, and smacked her, saying it was the only way to treat a woman of her sort, appeared in the Divorce Court in London recently.

Mr. Peggy Barbara MacNeece, of Trinity-crescent; Folkestone, was granted a judicial separation against Captain John Frederick Donald MacNeece, of the Royal Artillery, now serving at Aldershot, on the grounds of his cruelty, which he denied. .

The marriage took place at Saltwood Parish Church, Kent, In September 1933, and In August last year Mrs. MacNecce left her husband.

The President, Sir Boyd Merriman, said it had been plainly stated that the case was being fought because of the possible results which might occur after the new legislation came in on January 1, affording relief in charges of cruelty.

"SPIRITED YOUNG WOMAN"

"At the time of the marriage," Sir Boyd Merriman continued, "Captain MacNeece was 33 and his wife 23. The wife showed herself to be a bright, attractive, spirited young woman. I am satisfied she was very much in love with her husband and was eager to make the marriage a

"The husband has a considerable reputation, not only in the Army, but outside it, as a horseman."

Whatever were the military equivalents of the words "tart," "scarlet" woman," and "sewer," they were not encouraged in the British Army as between an officer and other ranks. "In relation to his wife, he demanded perfect submission, unhesitating obedience, and admiration of interview given by the Minister for Home Affairs, Admiral Sueisugo, which was published in the January issue of the magazine Kaizo.

He asked what Prince Konoye and Mr. Hirota thought of Admiral Suctsugo airing his views. He also criticised the Home Minister for the statement made en December when mass arrests of leaders of the Popular Front occurred, in which Admiral Suetsugo sald that both Democracy and Liberalism were hot-beds-of-Communism. CAUTIOUS ATTITUDE

In reply Prince Konoye pledged himself to a more cautious attitude in the personnel of the administration. He said that Japan now refused to have any further dealings with Chiang Kai-shek's administration and at the same time expected the organisation of such new regimes in North China and elsewhere in China as would cooperate with Japan.

In the circumstances, however, the Premier observed that the Foreign Powers still recognised Chiang Kaishek's administration with which they were dealing. Consequently the relations between Japan and the Foreign Powers were most delicate so far as China was concerned. Therefore, continued Prince Konoye, Japan must endeavour to secure an understanding of the realities of the situation on the part of Foreign Powers, while both the Japanese Government and people take care not to give needless stimulation.

Admiral Suctsugo replying to the interpellation, regretted his interview had invited misunderstanding abroad. This, however, had been due to mistranslation and exaggeration of the passages in the interview. If it had all been read through dispassionately without prejudice, Suctsugo declared it would have been clear that the misunderstanding was due to exaggeration and mistranslation.

BEFORE ASSUMED OFFICE Admiral Suetsugu also remarked that the interview had been given It was greeted with lusty applause | before he assumed the portfolio of by the proverbially well behaved Home Affairs. He said, "In short, it members of the House, who seldom is useless resistance if kept up by China, hoping against hope, the only Mr. Kosaka stressed that the public result of which would be reducing Britain to assist China and add to China's misfortune, If Britain Mr. Kosaka then referred to the should do so, however, in my opinion Japan must endeavour however hard to seek Britain's reconsideration."

Admiral Suctsugu said that it was difficult to define liberalism and democracy, but he pointed out concrete cases in which the Kuomintang had instructed its agents to make social democracy a hotbed for Communism. It was necessary therefore for the police authorities to watch the social and democratic organisations in controlling the Communists.

The Home Minister in conclusion said that such liberalism as negated private ownership disregards the interests of the State and stressed that individual freedom must be reconsidered in the present emergency was confronting Japan,which

POLICY DECLARATION Japan Excludes Possibility Of Third Party Mediation

Tokyo, Jan. 24. Slamming the door shut to third party mediation in the Sino-Japanese conflict, Japanese Government leaders have published the four cardinal points of the nation's future China policy. These are: 1.—Japan will not deal with the Nationalist Government under any circumstances. 2.—Japan may still declare war on

China to stop foreign arms shipments. 3.—Japan will act as a foster

ministration. 4.—There is absolutely no possibility whatever of third party

It becomes more understandable that the United States should treat with a certain reserve, amounting to scepticism, Mr. Koki Hirota's pledge that the "open door" on China is to be left permanently ajar to the world's traders. That is the situation in a nutshell. I is not the sincerity of the statesmen in Tokyo that is doubted; it is the wayward ways of military chiefs who are inclined to shape their tactics according to the demands of the moment, without remembering to consult the Foreign Ministry.

Indians Gain Useful Lead In Lague Decision Reached In All

There was some very interesting cricket on Saturday last, though from the spectators' point of view, and I have little doubt from the point of view of the players as well, it was a perfectly foul day, cold and dull. The results of the matches, all of which were finished, have made the league position in the Senior Division a very interesting one.

Turning to the actual play the H.K.C.C. had to make a couple of changes and were lucky to pick up their eleventh man at the last minute. A CLOSE THING

The trouble with the Civil Service bowling on Saturday last was that some of it was too much to leg and a very great deal of it was much too short. With batsmen who can hook like Anderson and O'Bryen it is simply asking for trouble to plaster down long hops on the leg and middle stump. Anderson had an excellent knock of 42 and O'Bryen's innings of 68 was caught at cover, and Perry leg before early on. Colledge, however, played an excellent knock and was well backed up by Griffiths until he was brilliantly caught by Anderson running back from mld off. Francois de la Rocque, right, stormy former leader of the banned Croix de Feu, now head of the French Social Party, brought suit for libel against various Frenchmen. ## Japanese Suffer Heavy Losses; May Abandon City Of Hangchow

Hankow, Jan.-25:

Chinese reports state that, striking before the arrival of the newly-despatched Japanese reinforcements, troops formerly under Han Fu-chu, now commanded by General Liu Yoa-ting, yesterday abandoned defensive warfare tactics, and swung into operation in a general southern Shantung counter-offensive.

The Chinese thrust between Yenchow, occupied by the Japanese, and Tsining, retaking Sunchihtien in the course of the operations, while contingents spread fanwise from the south-west, surrounding Tsining. Vanguards pushed on to within 16 miles of Tsining.

Meanwhile on the southern section of the Tientsin-Pukow railway zone, things remained quiet, with the Japanese awaiting their 30,000 reinforcements from Nanking. After their arrival a big "push" is expected to start.

According to further 'Chinese Je-1 ports, Japanese troops' in Hangchow are preparing for street fighting by erecting sandbags and machine-gun emplacements. However, the Japanese are also mining the bridges on the Hangchow-Nanking highway, which indicates that the Japanese perhaps will evacuate Hangehow.

Wuhu Slaughter

A Central News news report states that during the Chinese offensive yesterday against Japanese positions on elevated ground at Wuhu, in which Chinese planes co-operated, over 1,000 Japanese were killed.

The Salang Pao, official organ the Chinese army, states that a division of Japanese reinforcements was rushed to Wuhu, whilst 40 warships are in the vicinity. In attempted retaliation for yesterday's Chinese raid on Wuhu, 12 Japanese planes approached Wuhan. However rnin and hall forced them to turn

Spirited Guerillas

A message from Puklung, Shansl, says that mountain fighters of the Eighth Route Army and other Chinese partisans, lured Japanese into the mountain trails, split the parties, which lost their way, and then rushed down the hills, jumping out from behind trees to snipe a number of the Japanese. Then, in a sword and bayonet attack, the Chinese killed 300 Japanese, and took the city of Tsangchuang.

Maddened by this treatment, the Japanese sent a large punitive, expedition against. Tsangchuang, but i the Chinese troops and people vanished into the mountains. According to Chinese reports, Japanese then took revenge

60,000 - TON SHIPS MAY BE OUTCOME OF STRONG RIVALRY

Seven Nations Compete For Margin of Security While Costs Mount Enormously

London, Jan. 24.

In a headlong and unprecedented naval race, seven Powers are prepared to lay at least 1,500,000 tons of fighting ships during 1938. Already Britain, the United States and Russia are exceeding the 35,000 tons limits, while the experts are certain that eventually the scramble to construct 43,000 tons vessels will mark the beginning of a race for increasingly gigantic ships, possibly reaching 60,000, and costing £25,000,000, within five years, unless a halt is called.

France and Italy are indulging in an oblique race, due to the fact that France has seven battleships, mostly of an ancient type, which must protect the Atlantic and Mediterranean coasts, while Mussolini is already building two 35,000 tons ships, and is likely to start soon on two more.

China Pays Tribute To Railwaymen

Stuck To Posts Despite Danger

Big British Investment

Shanghai, Jan. 15. The unsung heroes of the war is the description applied in an official Chinese report on the work of the railwaymen of the country who, it is stated, have lived up to their motto of "Die with the railroads." They have kept the country's main system of transport operating despite immense hardships and dangers.

commenced 115,000 employees operated 37,500 miles of line, comprising Government-owned rallway system. In remaining at their posts despite danger, the report declares, they were indirectly defending British and other foreign capital tied up in China's railway system which, according to the Ministry of Rallways, amounted to $1,000,000,000 at the end of 1936. In the first four months of the war, the report proceeds, 130 railwaymen died at their posts. "The death roll from air raids would have been higher if not for the well-built dugouts at most stations. Many of these shelters were built in the hills and mountains and were bomb-proof. "The Japanese planes come so frequently that the routine of railway employees consists partly of rushing in and out of these dug-outs. "Any part of the railway system destroyed during the air raids is repaired with the least delay. Up to the end of October last 199 railway structures, 29 bridges, 810 pieces of rail, 1,210 sleepers were blown up. wholesale destruction wrought by the Japanese since November has been a hundred times more devastating.

STAYED TO LAST

"Station-masters and other employees working on the sections of the line immediately behind the fighting zones only withdrew in the train carrying the last group of evacuees. Sometimes there was no last train," the report adds.

It is also pointed out that numbers of rallways have fallen into the hands of the Japanese entirely. They are: the Pelping-Mukden, Pelping-Suiyuan, Tsinan-Tsingtao, Chengting-Talyuan, Nanking-Shanghai, Shanghai-Hangehow, Ningpo, Soochow and Kashing railways.

Decision Reached In All Senior Games

There was some very interesting cricket on Saturday last, though from the spectators' point of view, and I have little doubt from the point of view of the players as well, it was a perfectly foul day, cold and dull. The results of the matches, all of which were finished, have made the league position in the Senior Division a very interesting one.

I should not be at all surprised to see the Indians pull off the most certainly will not. It is too Shield this year, as the Club is by | big a handleap, as of the first six no means convincing and I don't at least one, and usually two people think as highly of Craigengower as fail to come off. Turning to the actual play the H.K.C.C. had to make a couple of changes and were lucky to pick up their eleventh man at the last minute. As usual the side was saved from complete disaster (31) and H. Owen-Hughes (16), totalled between them 122. As a matter of fact all the runs were made by the fall of the fifth wicket, to all intents and purposes, and there was a complete collapse before the bowling of Prata (4 for 25) and Pereira (4 for 46). Both were bowling medium fast, as was Ozorio who, at the start, looked rather more difficult than anyone. Gosano sent down one maiden at the beginning of the match, but his knee went, and I was surprised and glad to see that he managed to bat. I am afraid his days as a bowler are over. If the batting of the Club de Recrelo had been as good as their bowling they would probably have won the game easily, but I don't think the H.K.C.C. was ever in the departure of the Fleet, the Navy danger. The trouble with the Civil Service bowling on Saturday last was that some of it was too much to leg and a very great deal of it was much too short. As I rather expected the Army side lost a good many of the people who were down to play originally. Major Rawstorne, Weedon, and Man were noticeable absentees. As I had anticipated, the weak Army bowling was badly knocked about, and Nazarin again put up a big score (80), while Kitchell got into the forties. They declared at 179 for 4 wickets and the Army simply faded away. MacLagan and Hobkirk alone getting double figures. A | bad business.

HARRY LEE

THE STORY SO FAR: Emile Zola having struggled up through poverty to wealth and literary fame by writing endless novels in defence of the oppressed, is approached by Madame Lucie Dreyfus, whose husband has been falsely accused as a traitor and imprisoned on Devil's Island. Reluctant to leave his retirement again for the arena-Zola finally consents to aid her—and writes a bitter denunciation of corruption in high Army circles-which causes the government to summon him to trial for libel.

Village In Panic By Flood Threat

London, Jan. 24. A village in South Wales suffered a panic to-day when it was reported that a reservoir which was situated above it was in danger of bursting. The villagers were told to leave their homes, but later the panie died down. Consulting engineers arrived from London, and steps are now being taken to empty the reservoir as quickly as possible.—Reuter Bulletin,
